Ford

Dear Hiring Manager,

I'm applying for the Senior iOS Software Engineer position at Ford. As a Principal iOS Engineer at Walmart, I've spent years building customer-facing applications at enterprise scale, and I'm drawn to Ford's focus on delivering digital experiences that genuinely improve drivers' lives.

Throughout my career, I have had the opportunity to lead major projects that transformed user interaction and enhanced application efficiency. At Walmart, I led the checkout team that played a key role in the development of a completely new mobile iOS app from idea to production in less than two years. My expertise in Swift and Objective-C, combined with strong problem-solving abilities, helped us deploy an app that increased user retention and satisfaction, integrated multiple lines of business, and generated multiple years of 20-40% growth in eCommerce sales.

My work experience at Walmart lines up closely with Ford's way of working -- from agile development with continuous integration and deployment to collaborating regularly with product owners, designers, and fellow engineers. I am excited about the prospect of contributing to your team and furthering Ford's mission to lead in automotive technology.

Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to the opportunity to discuss how my background, skills, and interests align with Ford's goals during a potential interview.

Kind regards,
Doug Sjoquist
